Arkansas Nearer School Operation On Private Basis

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The reopening of four public schools at Little Rock, Ark., as private institutions appeared a step closer today while Virginia's policy of massive resistance approached another legal showdown.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Thursday night that rulings by an Arkansas federal judge paved the way toward resumption of classes in the high schools he closed in the face of a U. S. Supreme Court integration order.

The governor referred to Judge John E. Miller's refusal to pass on the legality of an Arkansas plan to lease the school buildings as private, segregated schools. Miller said it was a matter for a three-judge federal court to resolve.

The judge also dismissed a petition by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People asking him to enjoin the School Board from leasing the schools.

Faubus said the action "now paves the way for the School Board to lease the schools and if the people of Little Rock vote against integration Saturday, the schools can be opened immediately." A special referendum will be held Saturday on the question of integrating the schools.

U. S. Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers entered the case before Miller as a friend of the court and said that the private school plan was a sham and illegal.

Georgia, Mississippi, Louisiana and Virginia are among Southern states which have similar laws for operating schools on a private, segregated basis if faced with orders to integrate.

In Washington, President Eisenhower said the closing of schools in Arkansas and Virginia could have disastrous consequences to their students and eventually to the nation. He made the comment in a letter to J. Albert Rolston, chairman of a Charlottesville, Va., committee for public education.

Meanwhile, the 4th Circuit Court of Appeals in Baltimore prepared to hold an emergency session Saturday to hear arguments on whether Norfolk should be granted a year's delay in enrolling 17 Negroes at junior and senior high schools.

If the court refuses the delay, the schools are expected to be shut down under Virginia's massive resistance laws, idling about 10,000 pupils.

About 700 citizens of Warren County, Va., voted overwhelmingly in favor of a private educational corporation that would provide classrooms for the 1,000 pupils enrolled at the Front Royal high school. The school was closed Sept. 15.

Polio Totals For Nation Hit New High

WASHINGTON (AP)—State health departments reported 434 polio cases last week, 220 of them paralytic. Both totals were the highest for any week this year.

Corrected figures for the preceding week, ended Sept. 13, were listed today by the Public Health Service as 394 cases, with 191 paralytic.

The 434 cases last week compared with 212 in the corresponding 1957 week. The 220 paralytic cases compared with 82.

For the year through Sept. 20 there have been 3,367 cases, compared with 4,614 last year. The paralytic cases totaled 1,536 compared with 1,472.

About half the cases reported last week and about 40 per cent of the paralytic cases were listed by east north-central states—212 cases, with 80 paralytic.

The service noted a continued increase in cases in Ohio, with 46 for the week ended Sept. 20 as compared with 38 the preceding week.

O'Neill Plans Labor Cleanup; DiSalle Eyes Ohio Finances

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ohio's two candidates for governor in the November election invaded each other's strongholds Thursday to deliver campaign speeches.

Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill stepped into the usually staunchly Democratic northern part of the state and Democrat Michael V. DiSalle spent 17 hours criss-crossing the usually equally staunch Republican southeastern area.

At Canton, O'Neill said Congress has failed to act in curbing labor racketeers. But he promised to recommend to the Ohio Legislature that it "take very possible action to clean out these various practices." He added:

"The gangsters, hoodlums and racketeers (from Ohio) who appeared before the Senate Rackets Committee . . . left the committee helpless and frustrated by their arrogant defiance of the committee's questions and by hiding behind the Fifth Amendment.

"We have to erase this blot, but Congress failed to act when it should have."

Southeastern Seaboard Braces For Hurricane

Weather Bureau Warns Georgia, Carolina Areas

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Weather Bureau ordered up hurricane warnings today from Cape Fear, North Carolina, to Savannah, Georgia.

The bureau said hurricane Helene was centered 200 miles southeast of Charleston, S.C., at 11 a.m., EST.

It was still moving northwestward at 14 miles an hour.

"Safety precautions should be started immediately and completed by sunset," the emergency warning from the bureau said.

"Storm tides and high seas will flood coastal lands from Beaufort to Wilmington, N.C., and particularly from Charleston to Cape Fear, to heights of 4 to 6 feet above levels reached by normal tides for this date.

"In some local areas tides may be even higher."

The bureau said also:

"Destructive winds and dangerously high tides should begin by early this evening and are expected at the latest by 10 p.m. with maximum winds 75 to 100 miles near the center of the hurricane beginning around or shortly after midnight.

"Present indications are that the hurricane center will reach the South Carolina Coast near or a short distance north of Charleston," he said.

Burmese Army Grabs Control

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—In a bloodless coup, the Burmese army tonight took over administration of this strife-torn republic.

Throughout the country, the army—in a coordinated move—took over the protection and security of all major towns.

Top army leaders expressed belief a certain political group—unnamed—has been collecting arms to wipe out all opposition groups and take over the country.

Army intelligence expressed the opinion the Communists were preparing to help this group.

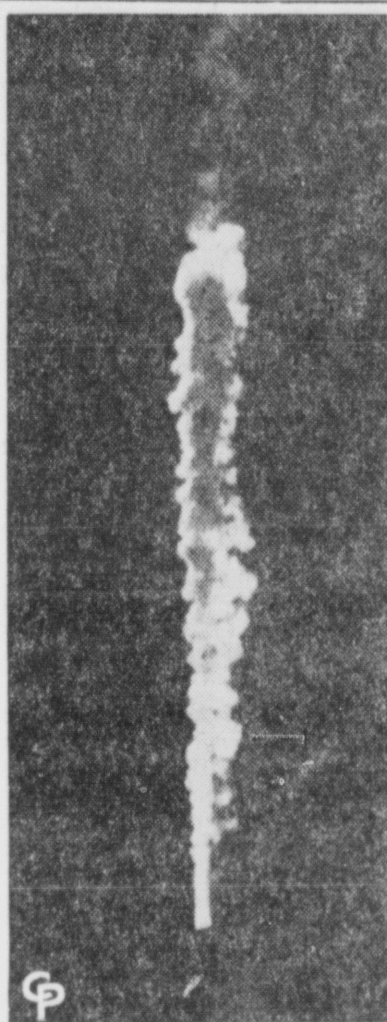

The army has appealed for calm and order, though no proclamation has yet been issued. Communications are normal and the army says the only reason they have taken over the administration of the country is to preserve law and order. Its aim is to see that democracy does not die, it said.

The Buddhist prime minister, U Nu, is to hand over administration to the army tonight.

Assurance has been given by army leaders that they are ready to hand over to any government which can guarantee the well-being and security of the people—the implication being that the present government is incapable of solving the ills of the country.

Dulles Studies Formosa Plans

'No Retreat' Pledged Anew by U.S. Envoy

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles conferred today after serving notice that the United States will "make no retreat in the face of force" on Formosa.

In a speech before the Far East-American Council of Commerce and Industry in New York Thursday night, Dulles charged that Red China—aided by Soviet arms, supplies, and moral support — is "threatening war against us in the Formosa area."

"The United States is not prepared to retreat in the face of armed force," he declared. But, he added, "our position is otherwise flexible."

Dulles said the United States welcomed Peiping's willingness to resume the U.S.-Red Chinese talks and was prepared, "in accord with our United Nations Charter obligation, to settle the dispute by peaceful means."

"We believe that the Soviet Union, if it wanted to see a peaceful solution, could make that possible," he said.

The secretary spoke amid indications that the gloom into which the Formosa crisis had plunged Washington was lifting slightly.

Spirits were bolstered by a Pentagon estimate that Nationalist China is strong enough to hurl back any Red Chinese invasion attempt against Quemoy without U.S. armed help.

There was a feeling in U.N. circles that the Reds were easing their pressure in Formosa — perhaps in the face of a solid Western front.

Both Britain and France joined in supporting American efforts to get a cease-fire in the crisis.

The Warsaw talks continued to drag on despite reports of deadlock.

U.S. Ambassador Jacob Beam told newsmen in the Polish capital he would meet again next Tuesday with the Red Chinese envoy, Wang Ping-nan.

The main fear at this stage appeared to be that Peiping is not as experienced at international fencing as Moscow, and might accidentally step over the brink.

Jailbreakers Handed Stiff Prison Terms

IRONTON, Ohio (AP)—The short-lived freedom of two jail escapees has ended. One has been sent to Ohio Penitentiary, the other to Mansfield Reformatory.

William Pennington, 17, of Rt. 2, Ironton, and Raymond Adams, 28, of Waverly, overpowered a sheriff's deputy and escaped from Lawrence County Jail here last Sunday. They were recaptured Wednesday after a four-day search by authorities through the wooded area along the Ohio River.

After that, justice moved swiftly. Adams, who had been awaiting transfer to Ohio Penitentiary to serve a 1-15 year term for armed robbery and a 1-3 year sentence for carrying a concealed weapon, had a one-year term for jailbreak tacked on to his other sentences Wednesday. He was quickly shipped off to the penitentiary.

Thursday, Pennington was brought before Judge Warren Earhart on a charge of robbing the MacArthur Hotel here last Aug. 14. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 10-25 years in Mansfield Reformatory. He also drew a 1-3 sentence for carrying a concealed weapon. The sentences are to be served consecutively.

UAW Orders Calm On Picket Lines

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers sternly warned its General Motors members today to avoid picket line incidents while it headed into an intensive week-end bargaining session with a strike deadline only four days away.

Two minor outbreaks were reported at GM plants in the Detroit area Thursday. Picket lines ringed 12 GM plants across the nation, idling 40,000 workers.

UAW President Walter Reuther took personal command of the union negotiating team today.

GM, biggest of the auto makers and with 250,000 UAW members among its 325,000-man work force, gave no indication it planned to sweeten its offer of a three-year contract with concessions almost identical to those on which Ford and the UAW settled Sept. 17.

Chrysler, which like GM has over 28,000 workers idle in local walk-outs, Ford reported nearly 12,000 still out in disputes over local work conditions.

The seriousness of the work stoppages was emphasized when Chrysler announced it had postponed public introduction of all but one of its 1959 models because of what the firm called "the erratic labor situation."

The most serious incident occurred at the Detroit Cadillac plant, where more than 8,500 workers stayed off the jobs with several hundred forming picket lines. The violence developed when Dr. Douglas J. Wood, Cadillac medical director, attempted to drive out of the executives' parking lot.

GM spokesmen said more than 150 pickets thronged about Wood's car, kicked in the side panels and smashed the windshield and side windows. The doctor, who was uninjured, backed into the parking lot again and later left in a taxi cab by a side entrance.

More than 20 other Cadillac executives, including General Manager James Roche, remained in the plant.

The trouble began on the Arkansas side. Police dispersed the youths. The crowd then retreated across the street to Texas and yelled curses at the Arkansas officers.

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP)—About 150 students turned a high school football rally into a melee Thursday night and attacked cars driven by Negroes and whites.

No injuries were reported although one white woman said she was slapped by one of the youths.

The demonstration erupted at Broad and State Line avenues, on the border of Texas and Arkansas. It involved students of Texarkana, Ark., High School and Texarkana, Tex., High.

It was a tiny white dot in the sky as it darted in and out of the clouds.

After about 2½ minutes burnout was expected from the first stage engine and the second stage was due to ignite at an altitude of about 28 miles.

The lift-off appeared perfect to news observers watching from an observation tower about a mile and a half from the launching site.

If all went well, the 10,000-pound third stage rocket would trail the satellite into an elliptical orbit after attaining a velocity of 18,000 miles an hour. Thus, a total of 71½ pounds would be in orbit.

A voice shouted, "Give 'em hell, Harry," before he started and the 74-year-old ex-President replied: "I'm a good Baptist and I've never given anybody hell. I just tell the truth about Republicans and they think it's hell."

Vanguard II Launched Today

Satellite To Maintain Lookout for Storms

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A weather probing Vanguard satellite was blasted into space today and preliminary instrumentation showed the rocket's three engines performed normally.

That meant the huge rocket blazed some 300 miles high in space, probably reaching a speed of 18,000 miles per hour.

But in Washington an official of the International Geophysical Year said shortly after 2 p. m. today he had nothing to report as yet as to whether the Vanguard satellite had gone into orbit properly.

The gold-coated moon carries two radio transmitters operating on 108.03 and 108 megacycles.

If the latest satellite becomes orbiting Vanguard II, it should be observed with a good pair of binoculars but not with naked eye.

Currently in orbit are Vanguard I, a 6.4-inch ball weighing 3½ pounds; the heavier Army Explorer satellites I and IV; and Russia's massive, ton-and-half Sputnik III.

The 72-foot, bullet-shaped rocket housed a 20-inch, 21½-pound attitude which, if orbited successfully, could spot large storm masses such as hurricanes and typhoons as they build up around the earth.

This was the seventh try at shooting a composite three-state Vanguard, with only one success claimed up to date.

It was also the first time a Vanguard had been fired successfully in two months. During the interim the slender missile was checked out from top to bottom and a few minor adjustments made in the first two stages.

An attempted launching of this same rocket was scrubbed last week when an electrical breakdown caused automatic engine cutoff a split second before lift-off. The mighty Vanguard engine ignited then with a flash but shut down just as quickly when the trouble developed.

The main mission of the "seeing eye" moon was to measure the movement and disposition of cloud cover around the world to aid meteorological studies. Two light-sensitive photoelectric cells were carried in the satellite to do the job.

The 22,600 pound rocket climbed slowly aloft at 10:38 a.m. EST.

It began to accelerate rapidly as it rose steadily into the cloud-filled Florida skies.

The sleek missile was hucking a brisk westerly wind as it roared skyward.

After about 10 seconds the olive-drab and white missile ended its vertical flight and curved toward the Southeast.

It was a tiny white dot in the sky as it darted in and out of the clouds.

Democrats Roar As Harry Speaks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Former President Harry Truman lambasted Republicans Thursday night at a $100-a-plate fund-raising Democratic party dinner and 500 partisans roared approval.

A voice shouted, "Give 'em hell, Harry," before he started and the 74-year-old ex-President replied: "I'm a good Baptist and I've never given anybody hell. I just tell the truth about Republicans and they think it's hell."

Republican economic policies came in for sharp attack. He declared some 20 million persons are represented in Washington by lobbyists, "leaving 150 million who need a lobbyist in the White House. I'm sorry to say they have not got one."

Violence Mars Algerian Poll

DeGaulle Constitution Is Submitted to Vote

ALGIERS (AP)—Violence shattered an atmosphere already heavy with fear as voters in scattered parts of Algeria cast ballots today on Premier de Gaulle's proposed new constitution.

French officials reported at least six military clashes with rebels as voting began. Several rebel terrorist attacks occurred in Algerian cities.

At Setif, rebels sprayed rifle fire into a bar killing a woman and injuring six other persons. Nearby, a French soldier was wounded by a rebel grenade. A Moslem was assassinated. Similar incidents were reported at Tlemcen and Peregraux.

The voters were given a yes-no choice on a document that makes no provision for Algeria itself. De Gaulle has withheld any indication what the future will be for Algeria under his Fifth Republic which the constitution will establish.

Moslems, who make up 90 per cent of Algeria's population, went to the polls in fear of the two forces which have been fighting over this North African territory for four years.

By participating in the three-day referendum, they risk the wrath of nationalist rebels seeking independence for Algeria. The rebels have demanded a boycott of the referendum.

But by exercising their legal right of abstention, Moslems run the more immediate risk of repression by French troops.

5 Newsmen Missing in Boat Mishap

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—A small amphibious vehicle with eight news correspondents overturned in heavy seas during a supply landing operation today. Five of the men are missing.

The missing were listed by a competent source as three Chinese and two foreigners. The names were not given.

The landing vehicle reportedly was swamped by heavy waves and not hit by shellfire.

The newsmen were from a group from southern Formosa going to cover first hand the new Nationalist techniques of unloading supplies.

The group was reported to have included Keyes Beech, Chicago Daily News; Robert Martin, U.S. News & World Report; Peter Kalischer, CBS News; Wade Ringham, CBS Television; Fred Waters, The Associated Press; Bob Miller, United Press International; Bertram Jones, London Daily Express; Frank Robertson, Sydney Sunday Herald; James Mossman, London Daily Mail; H. E. Teglers, Berlingske Tidende; and 11 Chinese correspondents. None had indicated any intention of going ashore when they left on the trip.

Paarlberg Tipped As Economic Aide

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Don Paarlberg, a chief architect of the administration farm policy, is reportedly slated for appointment as President Eisenhower's principal economic adviser.

Paarlberg would succeed Dr. Gabriel Hauge, who has resigned, effective Sept. 30.

Civil Defense Unit Planned At Meeting Here

County To Be Part Of 'Survival Project' Of 22-County Area

Definite steps to make Fayette County a co-operating part of the southwestern Civil Defense district of Ohio were taken at an open two-hour meeting in Memorial Hall Thursday night.

When it was over, the responsibility for organizing the Fayette County Civil Defense unit had been placed in the hands of the Board of County Commissioners.

Later, Clifford E. Hughes, board president, said "we (the commissioners and the people) are going to get this organization going without delay."

Action toward Organizing Fayette County as a part of the "Survival Project" in case of nuclear attack of other major disaster came after the overall plan had been explained by a Civil Defense team from the Blue Ash (near Cincinnati) headquarters of this 22-county area.

ON THIS team were R. J. West, county planner, Robert Siler, administrative assistant to the Ohio Civil Defense director, Capt. John Smith, service officer; and Major Robert McKee of Columbus, the state planner of the state adjutant general's staff.

C. V. Sexton, Washington C. H. Civil Defense director for Fayette County, set up the meeting and presided. He described it as "a doggone good meeting. . . it looks like we are beginning to get something done now."

Under the supervision of the county commissioners, the county organization will be formed in the near future. It will include branches for engineering, health and service and supply among others.

At the meeting were the county commissioners, a number of township trustees and representatives of several organizations, including the Grange, Washington C. H. was represented by Police Chief Vaiden Long and Fire Chief George Hall.

One of the first steps in effecting the organization, Sexton said, will be the formation of an advisory committee by county commissioners.

BONDING FIRM SUES

Fidelity and Deposit Co. of Maryland requests judgment in the amount of $844.76 from William Hurler in an action filed in Common Pleas Court.

The petition states that on May 26, 1951, the plaintiff company issued a surety bond for the defendant as administrator of the estate of Josephine Davis in Probate Court.

The suit alleges that when the defendant filed his final account in the estate, it was accepted by the attorney general of Ohio in behalf of the Division of Aid for the Aged, that a hearing was held and a finding returned against Hurler and the bonding company in favor of the state division in the amount of $814.85 with court costs of $44.91.

The plaintiff company says it paid the finding along with attorney fees of $25 in April of 1956 and now asks judgment against the defendant who, according to the petition, had agreed to indemnify the firm for any losses resulting from execution of the bond.

Driver's Suspension Lengthened by Court

Omar Allison Morris, Route 5 whose driver's license was suspended for a year on Sept. 2 after a Municipal Court conviction for driving while intoxicated, drew an additional year's suspension in Common Pleas Court Friday morning.

Appearing for hearing on an application filed by George C. Braden Jr., Ohio registrar of motor vehicles, the 42-year-old Morris was found to be an habitual traffic violator under the state's traffic point system law.

Morris, convicted twice for driving while intoxicated and once for driving while under suspension of his license in a two-year period, admitted the truth of the evidence submitted by the Ohio registrar.

Judge John P. Case assessed the costs of the hearing against the defendant.

Drug Stock Prices Make Upward Stride

NEW YORK (AP)—Drugs made big upward strides in a stock market that was slightly ahead on average in fairly active trading early this afternoon.

Some drug issues rose close to 5 points. Key issues in other groups were content with gains ranging to a point or so. There was a sprinkling of fractional losers.

Parke, Davis continued to soar on a 3-for-1 stock split proposal and enthusiasm spread to other drug stocks.

Aircrafts recovered a bit. Non-ferrous metals were active and higher. Rails, with carloadings at a new high for the year, improved. Motors, steels, and building materials were mixed.

Trading was brisk among drugs as they moved ahead. Warner-Lambert and Parke, Davis gained close to 5. Pfizer added more than 3. Schering and Merck rose about 2 apiece while Sterling drug advanced more than a point.

Loew's was fractionally higher as a proxy fight became possible. Martin Co. spurted ahead suddenly, rising more than a point, following publication of a Wall Street report that higher earnings are expected. Consolidated Edison was up a fraction as it announced arrangements for a 100 million dollar credit.

High-priced Du Pont added about 2. Gains of around a point or more were scored by Gulf Oil, American Tobacco, Allied Chemical, Texas Gulf Sulphur and Texton.

General Motors eased. U.S. Steel and Bethlehem were firm.

The U.S. Treasury's attractive new offer of short term securities caused the shorter end of the government bond list to recede. Intermediate and long range bonds were irregular.

By ALICE CRAIG
Students in the seventh, eighth, and ninth grades elected officers this week. Although officers in the two junior high classes will not have many duties, this enables them to get acquainted with the procedures which are followed in the senior high school.

The freshmen elected Garry Brown for a second term as president of the Class of '62. Chosen as vice president was Alice Craig. Joyce Cannon is the new class secretary, and Ann Evans the treasurer. President Garry appointed Rex Cox and Doug Cunningham to take charge of the sales tax stamps. Last year the class made more than $25 by collecting them.

David Craig was selected by the students of the eighth grade to be their president. The vice president is Chuck McCoy, the secretary is Patty Cannon, and treasurer, Janet McCoy.

The president of the seventh grade class during 1958-59 will be Pirley Harris. Elected as his vice president was Wayne Coudery. Larry Chrisman is the new secretary and the job of treasurer went to the only girl in the group, Janet Evans.

Salute Planned For Hometown Newspapers

NEW CASTLE, Pa. (AP)—A salute to newspapers as the principal source of "hometown" information will keynote national newspaper week observance in the eastern United States.

Publisher Richard E. Rentz of the New Castle News said in a statement that the term "hometown newspaper", which at one time implied only publications in smaller cities, now fits nearly all of America's dailies.

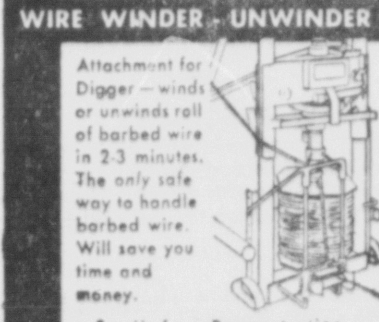

The New Castle News has been designated by the National Newspaper Week Committee to mark the formal start of the observance which begins Oct. 1. In conjunction with this, the New Castle News will mark the formal opening of a $300,000 addition to its publishing plant here, providing expanded facilities for the editorial and newsgathering staff.

BHS, as is illustrated by the fact that 58 students are members of the four different clubs organized in this community. Associate County Agent Phil Grover distributed the 4-H awards Wednesday evening at the first PTO meeting of the year. In addition to receiving premium checks and certificates, the members of the Menders and Blenders Club presented their 4-H act which has won them local and district talent honors.

In a group of songs using original words, they described the various activities in which the club participated this last year. The words of the songs were re-written by Mrs. Lewis Parrett, the advisor of the club, and by the teacher of the first grade here.

Receiving awards at the Achievement Night program were 12 members from the Jolly Jills, nine from the Kounty Klubbers, 19 from the Menders and Blenders, and 18 from the Blue Ribbon Champs.

Advisors are Mrs. John Cannon and Mrs. Glenn McCoy, of Jolly Jills; Miss Glenna Watkins, Kounty Klubbers; Mrs. Parrett and Mrs. Robert Huff, Menders and Blenders; and Mr. Robert Milburn and Mr. Harry Craig, Blue Ribbon Champs.

NEW STUDENTS ENROLL

Students at BHS are welcoming the two new pupils who have arrived since the beginning of the fall term.

They are Dennis Slavens, in the eighth grade, and Richard Downs, a senior. Their coming has put us in a predicament, however. Adding their arrival to that of the 19 new students at the beginning of the year, we have been forced to move two juniors into the freshmen home room because of the lack of seats.

The eighth grade room is now the only one in either junior or senior high school that isn't filled completely. We'll be "bustin' at the seams" if BHS receives any more new pupils!

MR. SAYLOR JOINS FACULTY

A new teacher who was employed shortly after school opened this year is Mr. J. W. R. Saylor. He received his B. Sc. degree from Wilmington College, and has taken more than enough hours for a master's degree at Miami University and the University of Dayton. He taught 14 years in Montgomery County and seven years at Beaver Creek in Greene County.

Mr. Saylor spends his summer vacations buying and remodeling old houses. Other special hobbies are hunting and fishing. He is teaching industrial arts and four seventh-grade classes this year.

LIBRARY RECEIVES BOOKS

Every year the school library is enriched in both quantity and quality by the collection of books sent out by Carnegie Library in Washington C. H. This year 87 books were received for junior high students and 100 for those in high school.

In addition to that group, we have also received 51 books on loan from the Ohio State Library.

Student assistants to Mrs. Craig, the faculty librarian, are Sally Kilgore, Onda McCoy and Judy McFadden. Those three are the only ones chosen so far, though several others will be selected later.

The assistant librarians check out books for the other students during their assigned periods.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

Recently I drove over the Waterloo Rd. to Waterloo (they still call it Waterloo in the village and community, even though it is posted on the highway marker as Pan-coastburg).

As I drove along I recalled many things of interest along the road, some that happened many years ago, and I also noted a number of interesting things of the present.

My first fast trip in an automobile was with P. F. Ortmann and two or three others, while Phil was trying out a new car with three-foot wheels. I timed him, and from the Bogus Rd. intersection we reached the city limits in four minutes. That was really fast in those days.

Then there was the Barnett Blacksmith shop near the Bogus Rd. intersection, and Jim Hartman, prominent school teacher and secretary of the Fayette County Anti Horse Thief Assn., lived next to the Barnetts 40 years ago.

A short distance east of the Old Springfield Rd. intersection two young girls were killed instantly nearly 50 years ago when the auto in which they were riding with two young men skidded and overturned. They were the Misses Hazel and Edith Pfeifer, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pfeifer and sisters of the late Roy Pfeifer. One of the girls was learning to drive the car at the time.

Further eastward is the former Adam Duff farm where years ago drillers struck a large log 60 feet beneath the surface. The last glacier apparently had dumped it there upward of 18,000 years ago.

Further on, south of the road, was the Glaze woods where Bert Wolfe, Harry Foreman and I cut a bee tree one night, and I never had so many stings in my life. We got some 60 pounds of honey, and more than that went to waste. (The days of real sport!).

Hereford cattle were grazing peacefully over the site of Otterbein Methodist Church, formerly of the West Holland Circuit, and about 48 years ago I rode out to that church with Attorney Charles A. Reid (who died 30 years ago) where he delivered a commencement address. We went in his two-lunged car, and hit the very fast speed of 25 miles an hour part of the time. The church was torn down 30 years ago.

At Manara the mysterious death of Rufus W. Hutson resulted in extensive investigation, and finally the belief was held that he died of natural causes.

Then there was the spot south of the road at the bridge over North Fork of Paint Creek, where "baptizings" were held, and the whole countryside attended.

Farther on was a tree where Policeman John Haggard was killed when his car left the road. Mrs. Haggard also was fatally injured. Howard S. Harper was the first person on the scene after the crash.

Still farther toward Waterloo I could recall seeing Humphrey Jones huge silo, tallest in the world, as it loomed above the surrounding buildings north of the road and about a mile or more west of Waterloo. No trace of it remains.

There was a murder committed in a house south of Waterloo, as I recall, but I do not remember the names.

I also recalled visiting Crabill's Park in horse and buggy days. It was situated southeast of Waterloo along the west bank of Deer Creek, and for many years was one of the leading picnic places of eastern Fayette and western Pickaway counties.

As I passed through Manara I saw Frank Thompson, taking it

Farmers Net Income Moving Upward

Those Fayette County farmers or others who are interested in seeing progress in the agricultural industry in Fayette County, doubtless felt somewhat cheerful and more encouraged over their general prospects, if they happened to listen in on a broadcast out of Cleveland a few days ago by Claude Hummel, senior agricultural specialist of the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland.

He pointed to the strong possibility of agriculture now completing two years of advance in net income. The net income from this industry in recent years has been below the post-Korea high of about $21 billion in 1951. It reached a low of just under $16 billion in 1956.

The net income from agriculture last year was somewhat higher than in 1956 and apparently it will register further gains this year.

The advanced level of prices so far this year, and the prospect of an expanded volume of marketings from what promises to be an unusually high output of crops, provide the basis for a substantial gain in net income for farmers this year.

Each year the Department of Agriculture compiles a statement of the general financial and credit position of agriculture. This statement is known as "The Balance Sheet of Agriculture"; it treats the combined assets and liabilities of all farms as though they constituted one huge enterprise. The statement applying to January 1 of this year has become available recently.

The combined resources of agriculture early this year were valued at $187 billion. That is 6 per cent more than a year previous, and more than twice as much as in early 1945.

At the present level, agricultural assets are equal in value to the total assets of all manufacturing corporations in the nation, exclusive of the petroleum refining industry. That industry alone accounts for a total assets of about $32 billion. The total assets of all manufacturing corporations early this year was $219 billion.

The total debt against farm property at the beginning of this year was estimated at $20.2 billion. A little over half of this debt is secured by mortgages on farm real estate; the remainder of the farm debt consists of non-real-estate loans and credits used mainly for the purpose of financing livestock equipment expenditures, current expenses, and commodity loans on stored crops.

The current amount of farm debt is 4 per cent more than a year ago and about 2½ times as much as was outstanding when the current period of debt expansion began thirteen years ago. In common with several previous years, the increase in debt obligations during 1957 was accompanied by an even larger gain in value of farm assets.

The total claims against agriculture amounting to $20.2 billion represent an amount equivalent to about 11 cents per dollar of agricultural assets. By way of comparison, manufacturing corporations, which customarily resort to more external financing than agriculture, reported total liabilities early this year equal to 33 cents per dollar of assets held. Furthermore, when debt is considered in relation to value of assets, total farm debt currently is below prewar levels. In 1940, for example, the total obligations of agriculture were equal to 19 cents per dollar of assets held, as contrasted with 11 cents at present.

The present low ratio of debts to value of farm assets is due mainly to a marked rise in the value of all forms of farm property. Farm asset values have more than tripled since 1940. Meanwhile, claims against those assets have registered only a two-fold increase.

Farm property values are indicated to have increased by a little over $10 billion during 1957. Nearly $7 billion, or over two-thirds of the increase in property values, resulted from a persistent advance in values ascribed to farm real estate. The total value of the land and buildings which comprise the nation's farms was estimated as of March 1 of this year at slightly over $116 billion, up 6 per cent from the previous high estimated in March of 1957. The advance in value of farm real estate was widespread, as advances were reported in all states during the year ended March 1, 1958.

International Affair in Dublin

DUBLIN (AP)—This is a story about a Scotsman who organized an airplane trip to Dublin to watch an Englishman direct an American in a film about Ireland on a location built by an Irish Jew.

The Scot is Jack MacGregor. The Englishman, producer-director Michael Anderson.

The American, James Cagney. The Irish Jew, Louis Ellman, who has constructed a miniature Hollywood 12 miles south of the Irish capital.

The film, "Shake Hands with the Devil."

It was a mad day, featured and interrupted by everything from Eamon de Valera to whispered suggestions of sabotage.

The morning began with a news conference in the skies, 16,000 feet above the Irish Sea. The conference was given by beautiful Dana Wynter, just in from California. No cheesecake dummy, Miss Wynter discussed everything from medicine to mink with a degree of quick intelligence that stunned 47 British journalists asking the questions.

To one who queried, "Do you think that sex is here to stay?" Miss Wynter replied:

"Well, if it isn't, neither am I." At Dublin Airport the chartered plane was met by kilted colleens playing bagpipes and beating drums.

This was followed by a conducted tour of Dublin.

"Here is the statue of that great Irish patriot, Charles Stewart Parnell," said the guide with a brogue as thick as a Liffey fog. Cagney hove into view.

"My ancestors came from Cork," he said, "and I've come to the conclusion that I love Ireland." He was followed by that talented Irish character actor, bearded Noel Purcell, noted for many roles. "Welcome to Ireland," roared Purcell.

Philadelphia-born Walter Seltzer, the producer, was host to a huge luncheon beneath a circus tent.

In the evening the Irish Tourist Board gave a reception. A reception by the Irish Tourist Board means the guests are on the receiving end of a large amount of Irish whiskey.

Halfway through the pouring, an Irish girl started playing an Irish harp.

In the midst of her encore, De Valera arrived from Lourdes in an Irish airliner.

An airline official dashed in and announced the plane couldn't take off because "a part is missing."

"Sabotage," muttered someone.

Do We Lead... or Do We Die?

Shall men die for barren islands?

This is the question that is being asked these days, for we live in a practical era when men do not wish to die for an imponderable. If they are to die, they say, let it be for something practical. But they prefer not to die at all.

The question is, what is practical? And, if we analyze too much, is there anything that is worth dying for? God? Country? Home? An ideal? A belief? To avenge a wrong. To spurn an insult?

In fact, does it make sense to grow poor defending one's native land, when one can grow rich and even fat by trading with the enemy or by manipulating a flight of capital? Or by profiteering on other men's stupidities?

These are no longer abstract questions, for they are symbols of what our government has to deal with every day. One week, it is Lebanon; another, Jordan; another Iraq or Iran, or Kashmir or Guatemala; still another, it is Quemoy and Matsu.

This nation existed from 1789 to 1941 without assuming world leadership. The very men and women who criticized the "isolationists" for narrowness and smallness of vision and heart are now criticizing our government for being faced with the consequences of the assumption of world leadership.

What did they expect to happen? Did anyone really believe in 1945 that when the United Nations came into being the bear would lie down with Uncle Sam and the world would know the peace of Noah's Ark?

Shall one go back into his morgue of clippings and speeches and recite the words of the great and the near-great and the publicity hunters who clamored for world leadership and demanded that our nation assume these enormous responsibilities?

There is a very large collection of these words of wisdom, and of the very small number who said, nay to all of it, who could foresee the cost that would have to be paid.

They were ridiculed as isolationists, and some were even called "one hundred per cent Americans", which in those days was a title of opprobrium.

To be popular, one had to be an internationalist and believe in world leadership.

Well, now the accounts are in and we shall have to pay. Of course Quemoy can be given to Red China even as a pretty virgin was sacrificed to Baal. What does an island matter?

Said a wise man: "It is like fighting over Sandy Hook! All right, let us not fight over Sandy Hook. But where shall we be driven from next?"

Wasn't it Iceland that once told us to get out? And did not Canada become so obstreperous that the President of the United States had to go personally to Ottawa to straighten matters out?

And is not Trujillo to the Dominican Republic showing us his teeth because we would not give his son, Zsa Zsa Gabor's boy friend according to her, an officer's rank in the American Army?

And do not signs appear, wherever we have troops, "Yanks go home"? And, are not about half the sessions of the United Nations devoted to a denunciation of and insult to the United States of America on its own soil?

It is easy to say, "I have a son, and shall he lose his life fighting for a couple of Chink islands?" And do you recall the Nazi propaganda during World War II about Americans dying to save England? And in World War I, the pacifistic propaganda was even more ferocious.

The truth is that everybody has sons or brothers, cousins or sweethearts who die in wars, and wars do not seem to accomplish what they set out to do, but neither does cowardice.

Czechoslovakia tried cowardice and Jan Masaryk committed suicide or was hurled from a window, and today his countrymen live in abject slavery. It can happen to West Germany as it has happened to East Germany.

It can happen to France as it has happened to France in our times. Cowardice can produce nothing but defeat, and defeat there is nothing but slavery and death.

Quemoy is of no importance except as a symbol of the United States being pushed around and taking it or not taking it, as our faith and courage dictate.

Including parishes and like governmental units, there are 3,098 counties in the United States. This figures includes 3,006 counties, 64 parishes, 26 independent cities, one National park and one federal district.

Diet and Health Eye Care May Raise Grades of the Pupil

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

THE youngsters have been back in school now for a few weeks. How is yours doing?

Is there any indication that his reading ability might not be up to par? Does he seem to be falling behind in his class work? Does he hate to do any reading at home, whether for homework or for pleasure? Does he tire easily?

Any of these signs might be an indication that your child needs glasses. A large proportion of children who have reading trouble can do better in school with the help of professional eye care. Glasses or special training, or both, may help their reading and studies.

Chart Test
Many schools use the Snellen chart test right in the classrooms. The visual error most often detected in school by this method is nearsightedness, or myopia.

Myopia is not a prominent factor in reading trouble. In one study of 1,000 reading failures, for example, only four per cent of the youngsters were nearsighted.

Farsightedness, or hyperopia, causes much more reading difficulty. Forty-three per cent of

American Girl Visits Russia

In Soviet, Church Folk Say: 'We Pray, Don't Criticize'

By BEVERLY DEEPE
Written For The Associated Press

Below me was a mass of praying humanity. The wooden benches were invisible under the crowd. People stood on the stairways. They were packed six deep in the side door which opened onto a pile of rubble.

This was a Baptist church service in Moscow which I was visiting as a member of the U.S.-U.S.S.R. student exchange. Two other members and Victor, our Russian translator, came to church with me.

An elderly man in a dark gray suit at the church door motioned us upstairs to the balcony. All the seats in the church were filled, except for a long narrow visitors bench next to the railing.

The old women among the 1,500 worshippers wore black or brown dresses with white or printed bandanas. Only three wore dark straw hats with simple trim.

Old men with white beards and many suits were sprinkled throughout the congregation.

And—although the Communist line says religion is for old women—I noticed about every fifth person in the congregation looked under 35.

(The American Baptist Convention headquarters in New York says the Baptist Church in the Soviet Union has grown from 28,900 members in 1912 to 530,000 members today. Baptists say 8,000 converts have been baptized since Jan. 1, 1958, and more are on probation.)

Between each verse of the hymn, the music stopped and the minister recited the next one. There were no hymnals in the church. Some members carried the verses in books printed in the old pre-Revolutionary orthography. Many carried the verses in their hearts.

I shall remember this singing for years—a slow, melancholy, almost despairing singing that reverberated from the high white ceiling and the undecorated walls.

The minister's sermon interwove Scripture readings with Christian principles to be followed by the congregation. A woman across from me wiped her eyes as the minister instructed the worshippers to remain strong despite many troubles and temptations. I saw other women blowing their noses.

A stifled sobbing rose throughout the congregation when the closing prayer asked forgiveness for wrongdoing and Christian acts omitted from their lives.

Throughout the service, white slips of paper fluttered from the balcony and were passed to the front of the room. From them, a minister read greetings from other Baptist churches behind the Iron Curtain. The congregation responded: "Greetings." Other messages requested prayers for the sick.

As we left the church, Victor—a member of the Young Communist League—said: "It was jammed. This surprised me."

It surprised me too, for I kept thinking of the pressures against church going which I had noted in this atheistic society—a society which pulls children from worship on Sunday morning for a movie sponsored by Communist youth organizations.

This is a society in which a Russian Orthodox professor repeats the Soviet government line on why the Russian Orthodox Church in the United States and the Soviet Union are separated.

"Heretics won't recognize the power of the metropolitan in Moscow because of their own political views and because they are supported by the U.S. government," he said.

This is a society whose Academy of Science and Museum of Religion in Leningrad labels the Roman Catholic Pope as "the banker and capitalist" and terms the Vatican "the great financial center."

And I thought: Religion in the Soviet Union can meet these obstacles only with tears such as I saw in this service, and the words: "We pray. We don't criticize."

Rail Conductors Said Lonesome Lot

CINCINNATI (AP)—Railroad conductors are getting downright lonesome these days, says a veteran railroadman.

A. E. Hicks of Etowah, Tenn., says "With passenger traffic falling off like it has been in the past few years, a conductor has time on his hands and not too many people to talk to."

"During World War II, you had to step over them (passengers) in the aisles and between the coaches."

Hicks, 72, who retired two years ago, was here for the 40th annual meeting Thursday of the Conductor's Assn. of America, an adjunct to the Order of Railway Conductors and Brakemen.

About 70 per cent of the nation's salt output is consumed by the chemical industry.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

GEORGE BERNARD SHAW'S cellophane-wrapped romance with actress Ellen Terry has been the subject of infinite anecdotes and conjectures. When she requested permission to publish some of the voluminous correspondence he had addressed to her in the course of a lifetime, he refused indignantly, declaring, "I will not play the horse to your Lady Godiva."

"Ours was an ideal love affair," he explained to the press, "because it was conducted principally by post. Ellen got tired of five husbands, but she never got tired of me."

An ironic observation on the literary life is contributed by a Look cartoonist who pictures a couple of scientists toying with the dials of a huge mechanical brain. Something went haywire. One savant suddenly discovers what's wrong. "We've left this brain idle too long," he declared. "It's trying to write a novel."

That world convention of detectives now underway in London can't be such a much. Not listed among the delegates are such super sleuths as Hercule Poirot, Nero Wolfe, Philo Vance, Craig Kennedy, or even Perry Mason.

A Czech citizen has just been juggled for manufacturing soap illegally. Don't tell us it's against the law there to take a bath?

Mexican college students strike over bus fare hike—news item. What'll they think up next as an excuse to skip classes?

God's Gift is Flowers

The traditional way to say "with sympathy" is to say it with flowers. Through the centuries men have turned to this blessed way of expressing their tenderest thoughts to friends and dear ones.

Those left behind will never forget the beautiful memory picture your thoughtfulness helps to create. And in years to come, you gain rich satisfaction in having contributed to the silent sermon on everlasting life that flowers add to this sacred occasion.

Gov. O'Neill's Campaigning Starts At 5:30 a.m.; Entire Day is Rugged

Editor's Note: Yesterday, readers of this newspaper got a look through the eyes of an Associated Press reporter at a day in the campaign life of Michael V. DiSalle, Democratic challenger for the office of governor of Ohio. Today the subject is Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill.)

By ART PARKS
Associated Press Staff Writer

It is one of those recent days when the tired summer sky decided to settle down to good old mother earth and cry.

The clouds are nudging the window sill when an alarm clock shrills in a great stone mansion in a suburb of Ohio's capital city.

The time is 5:30 a.m. and Bill O'Neill has a little difficulty shaking the cobwebs out of his brain. But it isn't all cobwebs; the atmosphere is well-laced with honest-to-goodness fog.

The governor's schedule calls for a rugged day, but he doesn't know the half of it yet.

He spends 15 minutes in mental planning for a long series of the day's activities, half of which are destined never to come off. But he doesn't know that yet.

The 5-foot-4 chief executive finally swings his feet out of bed at 5:45. One peek out the window gives him a premonition that all is not going as planned that day.

Five minutes with a safety razor clears away the whisker crop and with all deliberate speed he sets about preparing for the day. Thirty minutes later, attired in a gray herringbone suit, white shirt, gray and white tie and black shoes, he is ready for breakfast.

Mrs. O'Neill joins him for breakfast, but because of the hour, son Dubbie and daughter Peggy are still asleep.

Hardly have the soft-boiled eggs disappeared when the phone rings and a private air service gives him the bad news: "We might get off the ground here, but Cleveland is really socked in. Sorry, governor, but we can't get you there."

There follows a flurry of phone calls. How about a train? How about driving? Are the commercial airlines flying?

Press Secretary Hal W. Conefrey, already at the airport, checks out all possibilities. The best bet seems to be a commercial flight leaving Columbus at 10:30 a.m., EST. But that's 11:30 a.m., Cleveland time.

Another flurry of calls to Columbus news offices and to those managing the big campaign day in Cleveland. Automatically, O'Neill must cancel a 10:30 a.m. press conference in Cleveland, a noon luncheon for newsmen and a 1:30 p.m. news conference for radio and television reporters.

Almost before the day has started, the rain and fog have washed half the day's program down the drain.

Finally the governor steps into his car at the governor's mansion and his driver, Willie Lawrenson, a penitentiary trustee, pilots him to Port Columbus. At the airport, O'Neill finds state Auditor Jim Rhodes, by coincidence, boarding the same airliner to attend the same meetings.

At last they are in the air and O'Neill settles down to read a stack of mail. More than an hour later, after a round-about, longer-than-normal flight, the aircraft makes it to the ground at Cleveland's Hopkins Airport.

A car picks up the two officials, but during their long ride-through the rain, of course - there is confusion downtown.

Where is the women's tea, scheduled for 2:30, going to be held?

On the basis of advance publicity, duly printed by all three Cleveland daily papers, the tea is scheduled for a hotel. Turns out there had been a change in plans. Now it is to be held in the lounge of a department store.

The governor pulls into a downtown hotel where the washed-out press conferences had been scheduled, stops for a quick bite of lunch with A. L. (Sonny) Demaioribus, Cuyahoga County Republican chairman, and Alvin (Buddy) Krenzler, one of his chief advisers.

At last the governor arrives at the tea - 41 minutes late. Nearly nine hours after his clock had blasted him into consciousness after only 6½ hours' sleep, O'Neill was beginning his campaign day.

He passes through the crowd of women, shaking hands right and left. He makes his way to a huge easel which holds a giant photograph of the statehouse - the most familiar prop of O'Neill's campaigns.

Quietly and efficiently, the photo crew starts its job. A couple of men have been getting the women lined up and the picture-taking begins. One man takes from the first woman a numbered card and hands it to the camera assistant. The card, on which the woman has written her name and address, is inserted in a slot on the side of the camera.

The woman is gently propelled over to the governor who is waiting—all smiles—in front of the photo-mural. He grasps her hand briefly and a brilliant light flashes. The picture now recorded on film, the first woman is again gently propelled—this time away from the governor—and another woman takes her place. Again the camera pops.

And again, and again, and again, like clockwork.

This is one of the most effective of the O'Neill campaign devices. In a few weeks, the ladies will be receiving in the mail prints of the photographs showing them shaking hands with the governor, with the statehouse in the background. And they didn't even have to leave Cleveland to do it!

A newspaper photographer asks O'Neill to interrupt the picture-taking stint long enough to pose at the table. O'Neill obliges, gets a plate and a cup of tea, a couple of cookies and has his picture taken with the club's officers. Then he slips his tea plate back onto the table—the food untasted—and hustles back to the campaign photograph routine.

Atty. Gen. Bill Saxbe, who has dropped into help with the Cuyahoga County opener, can stand it no longer. He has been crouching around the room with a wrenched back. And the wet weather isn't helping the pain a bit. He appeals to Rhodes, who is to be master of ceremonies. Rhodes takes the microphone, explains Saxbe must leave. Saxbe gives out with a few words of welcome.

As soon as U. S. Sen. John W. Bricker strides into the room, the program begins. After conveying the regrets of GOP candidates who couldn't make it through the foul weather, Rhodes introduces Bricker.

With more than 200 pictures taken, O'Neill emerges from behind the big photo-mural easel to be introduced.

"We will continue to fight the tax spenders and oppose waste and extravagance in government. We are counting on the women of this state to continue us in office."

When the tea ends and a few score more hands have been shaken, the governor is told by Krenzler that a special five-minute telecast has been arranged to follow the evening rally.

O'Neill, DeMaioribus and Krenzler descend to street level looking hopeful—but still it rained.

Not too long afterward, the governor's party arrives at a dinner rally at the Masonic Temple. More than 2,000 precinct leaders, who have paid $2 each for the dinner, jam the bunting-decked hall. Pictures of all Republican state candidates hang above the speakers' table, but most prominent are color photographs of President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon.

The ever-present photographic crew is all set up and ready for business when the governor arrives.

Pop! Pop! Pop!

Everyone else is devouring his roast beef, potatoes and peas, but over at the side of the hall, a dinner-less Bill O'Neill is still smiling, shaking hands and having his picture taken every few seconds.

When the flash equipment finally quits, I ask him:

"Governor, how do your eyes ever stand all those flashes?"

"Art," he smiles, "it doesn't bother me a bit any more. When we first started this, it was killing me. I had spots in front of my eyes all the time."

"What happened? What do you do—look slightly away from the camera or something?"

"I'm not sure just what I do. But I think maybe you've got something there. That's probably what I do—just not look at the camera directly."

A question directed to the camera crew about the number of photographs taken during the day is picked up by Krenzler:

"I'll check and let you know in a few minutes," he assures me.

The speeches, interspersed by music from an orchestra which had furnished the dinner music, are under way. Candidates are introduced. Saxbe and his ailing back miss the dinner, but his place is taken by state treasurer (Roger (Bud) Tracy. Rhodes also takes a bow.

DeMaioribus, firmly but without rancor, tells the precinct leaders they have a job to do for the party. He is followed by Sen. Bricker who urges O'Neill's reelection.

Now it is time for O'Neill to speak and he gets an ovation. Observers agree it is one of the toughest, most emotional talks of his campaign.

"There is something growing in our state that I am unhappy about. It is something like a cancer . . . Corruption and hoodlumism among a few is gnawing at the vitals of groups set up to defend the rights of decent, hard-working men and women . . . I abhor it . . . Congress failed to act . . . It may be necessary to have state laws . . ."

A tap on my shoulder and a voice in my ear: "Between 1,700 and 1,800."

"Between 1,700 and 1,800 what?"

"That's how many pictures we took today."

"Oh! Thanks, Buddy."

The meeting is over, the clean-up crew takes over, down comes the big "O'Neill for Governor" banner and the governor's party climbs back into raincoats. But outside—wonder of wonders—the rain has stopped!

O'Neill scans the darkened sky: "I believe we can fly home . . . I don't know about you fellow, but I've got to get something to eat. I'm starved."

A solid chunk of roast beef revives the governor's flagging spirits. Then the party is off to the television studio. O'Neill makes a few notes as he sits on the set in the studio.

Soon the red eye of the TV camera lights up and the governor is on the air. It turns out to be far from the best TV appearance he has ever made. It is now nearly 17 hours since O'Neill arose and, despite his earlier protests, his eyes obviously are tired. The studio lights are too bright for tired eyes. He squints.

But flesh and blood have a limit. O'Neill's mind is functioning better than his eyes. The speech is a briefed-down version of the dinner address. With only a few bobbles, it comes off well.

Off now for the airport where the private plane is waiting, the craft which was supposed to bring the governor to Cleveland this morning. Rhodes, O'Neill and a trailing newsman clamber aboard. The three huddle together for the takeoff into the murky sky. Once aloft, the wingtips are scarcely visible from the cabin.

There is no bright, witty conversation. In fact, there is no conversation at all.

Rhodes' nodding head comes to rest on the newsman's right shoulder. O'Neill is slumbering peacefully on the other.

Ohio Farmer Says:

"d-CON STOPPED RATS FROM EATING ME OUT OF HOUSE AND HOME!"

Read What Lovell Geringer, Of Wauseon, Ohio, Has To Say About d-CON:

"Rats were a real problem with me. I had to get rid of them and so I turned to d-CON. I'd been using another rat-killer, but d-CON sure did the job. d-CON gets results...it really kills rats. Let me tell you...d-CON stopped rats from eating me out of house and home!"

It's a fact—in the great corn and wheat belts of America, where farmers really know how to get rid of rats, d-CON outdoes all other rat and mouse killers combined!

Farmers know that d-CON is the quick, sure, easy way to rid their property of destructive, disease-bearing rats. For rats hungrily eat d-CON's exclusive LX 3-2-1 formula, never suspect it's bait, never get bait-shy, devour it without guessing that every bite puts another nail in their coffins. d-CON actually makes rats commit suicide.

d-CON is THERMO-SEALED—always reaches you "factory fresh." Economical, too, since one package of d-CON makes several bait stations.

Remember, d-CON, used as directed, is safe to use around small children, pets, poultry and livestock, yet is guaranteed to keep your property rat and mouse free forever!

So rid your property of rats and mice forever!

Bigtime Grid Outfits Set For Openers

Top-Rated Teams To Get Initial Trials In Games Saturday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The big boys step into the spotlight this weekend as the college football season swings into a full schedule of games.

Some key intercollegiate games will test the strength of the top-rated teams.

Tonight, in Miami's Orange Bowl, Big Ten drafthorse Wisconsin meets the Miami Hurricanes. The Badgers, in their first trip South, are rated No. 14 in this week's Associated Press poll. The Hurricanes are No. 15.

Also tonight, Georgia Tech, a 13-0 upset victim of Kentucky last week, meets Florida State (2-0). Detroit (1-0) goes to the Air Force Academy, where Ben Martin opens his first game as Falcons' coach. Denyer (0-1) is at Utah State (0-1) in the other top game.

One of the big attractions Saturday pits No. 1 ranked Ohio State, 1957 Big Ten champ, against Southern Methodist, ranked 20th. Don Meredith's passing poses a challenge for the running of Bob White and Don Clark for the Ohioans.

Second-ranked Oklahoma takes on a toughie at home against West Virginia, 13th, which last week beat Richmond 66-22. Defending national champion Auburn (No. 3) plays Tennessee in the national television game.

Notre Dame (No. 5) opens with neighbor Indiana. The Irish are a four-touchdown favorite. Fourth-ranked Michigan State plays host to California, a 24-20 loser to College of the Pacific last week.

In the East, Pitt (No. 7) plays Holy Cross in an early battle for the Lambert Trophy, while Army (No. 8) meets the Atlantic Coast Conference's South Carolina, 8-0 conqueror of Duke last week.

Boston College (1-0) is at Syracuse, Princeton and Rutgers continue a rivalry that began in 1868, the oldest in the country.

In the South Mississippi (No. 9) takes on Kentucky, 2-0 and unscored on, at Memphis. Navy begins its season against William & Mary, while 11th-ranked Mississippi State plays 18th-ranked Florida (1-0).

Texas Christ (No. 6) journeys to Iowa hoping to add to its 7-0 record, while 10th-ranked Washington State comes out of the Far West to play Northwestern. Illinois entertains UCLA, Purdue travels to Nebraska and Minnesota meets Washington.

1 Game Sunday In Scrambled SWO League

If this kind of weather holds out, the baseball season here may just go on and on.

Only one game is scheduled in the Southwest Ohio (SWO) League for next Sunday. That one will be at Good Hope with Greenfield as the opposition.

But, that is not the end of the 11th-ranked SWO season.

First of all, there is the question of weather. The weatherman says there is a possibility of week-end rains. If rain comes Sunday, it will be another week before the teams can get together. This game already has been rained out four times.

Four teams — Milledgeville, Greenfield, the Reformatory and Good Hope — are now in a scramble for the second and third spots in the final standing.

If Good Hope should win Sunday's game from Greenfield, there will have to be a series of games to break up the four-way deadlock — if the weather holds out.

If Greenfield wins, Good Hope will be out of the running and the other three will battle it out for positions.

Incidentally, Tommy Smalley, the headman of the Good Hope team and SWO secretary said "if the fans want to see some good baseball between football games, they can see it Sunday at Good Hope."

Sunday's game at Good Hope is the only one on the SWO schedule remaining to be played. The other six teams on the circuit have played all 14 of their games.

Round Table Gets Another Chance

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Round Table makes another attempt Saturday to top Nashua and become the world's No. 1 money winning thoroughbred.

The hard-hitting 4-year old from Travis M. Kerr's Oklahoma-owned stable goes in the mile and one-quarter of the $100,000 added Woodward at Belmont Park needing $25,451 to reach his goal. Nashua earned $1,288,565 before he retired.

Twice this month Round Table has had a golden opportunity to become the world's richest horse. And twice he failed because of Clem, a consistent performer owned by Mrs. Adele Rand of Santa Fe, N.M.

Lions in Good Spirits For Game at Hillsboro

If the WHS Lions can get the jump on the Hillsboro Indians in the Southeastern Ohio League opener for both teams at Hillsboro 8 p. m. Friday they can win it, Coach Fred Domenico of the Lions said Friday morning.

This game will be a "dog-eat-dog affair" with the team that breaks fast and doesn't give up taking the decision, he said.

The Thursday practice went good and the boys were in good spirits and in good condition.

There will be no changes in the

Longshot Cops Review of Brown Jug

CLEVELAND (AP)—The surprise winner of the silverware in the Little Brown Jug Review at Northfield Thursday night was William Way, the only starter who did not compete in last week's Brown Jug race.

William Way took the second heat after finishing fourth in the opening mile.

The Jug winner, Shadow Wave, was not at Northfield, but Thorpe Hanover, twice second in the pacing classic for three-year-olds at Delaware, Ohio, won, Thursday night's first heat in the track record time of 2:02.

However, Thorpe Hanover broke stride and was sixth and last in the final mile.

The heat winners each collected $3,300 and William Way's money went to $6,148 because of the fourth place finish.

William Way, a bay son of King's Counsel and owned by J.E.S. Farms Stable of Jericho, N.Y., was driven by Jim Dennis. He paid $90.20, 11.00 and $4.40.

Thorpe Hanover, brown, son of Tanheel, the 1951 winner of the Jug, paid $4, $2.60 and $2.20.

Canadian Champ To Meet Ryff

WASHINGTON (AP)—Canadian welterweight champion Gale Kerwin tries to improve his standing in this country tonight when he faces Frankie Ryff in a 10-round bout in Capital Arena.

The odds, though slight, are against him.

Ryff, a Bronx lightweight, is a 7-5 favorite.

Friday night faithful across the country will have a chance to see not only the battlers in the televised show (NBC, 9 p.m. EST) but also the managerial bow of Barney Ross.

Ross, former welter and light-weight champion, took over Ryff two months ago. With his own second of the 1950s, Whitey Bimstein, Ross has been prepping Frankie for a crack at the national rankings.

Another Weekend Awaits Top Hitters

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Willie Mays goes into the final three days of the National League batting race tonight with a .273 average. Richie Ashburn has a .185 mark.

In the American League, leader Pete Runnels is batting .222. Ted Williams, the runnerup, is at .235.

Those aren't typographical errors. That's the way the fighting four have hit thus far against the clubs they'll be facing when the season closes this weekend, and in the parks where they'll be swinging.

For the record, Mays leads the NL race with a .3458 average as his Giants play the St. Louis Cardinals in three at San Francisco. Ashburn is second at .3439 as he and the Phillies open a three-game finale at Pittsburgh.

Runnels is batting .324, while Williams, his Boston teammate, has a .320 average as the Red Sox open a four-game series at Washington tonight.

Mays, 27, has hit Cardinals' pitching at a .359 clip for the season with 28 hits in 78 at bats. But while he batted .422 in the 11-game series at St. Louis, he's had only a .273 average against the Cards in eight games at San Francisco.

Ashburn, 31, is batting .314 against the Pirates for the season, with 22 hits in 71 at bats. He hit .386 against the Bucs in their 11 games at Philadelphia, but he's hit only .185 — five hits in 27 at bats — at Pittsburgh.

Runnels, 30, picked up from Washington last January for Norm Zauchin and Albie Pearson, has batted .373 against his old mates for the season — swinging for a dandy .475 mark in 11 games at Boston, but managing only a .222 average at Washington.

Williams, 40, the defending champ shooting for his sixth title, is batting .327 against Washington for the season. He was .375 against the Senators at Boston, but is hitting only .235 at Washington with four hits in 17 at bats.

Stan Musial of the Cards, the defending champ who has won seven titles, is the closest competitor to Mays and Ashburn. Musial is hit at .336.

Harvey Kuenn of Detroit is third in the American League race. He's hitting .316 after losing a point with a 1-for-4 job as the Tigers beat the Chicago White Sox 7-1 in the only game scheduled in the majors Thursday.

Redlegs To Test Southpaw Rookie

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Cincinnati's Redlegs have a strong and promising young southpaw named O'Toole who faces the stiffest kind of major league test.

Jim O'Toole, 21-year-old, 6-foot son of a Chicago policeman, starts against Milwaukee's National League champs tonight under the close scrutiny of Redleg brass.

O'Toole's record with Nashville of the Southern Assn. this season makes him the hottest young prospect in recent years.

He stacked up 20 victories against 8 losses while making an earned run mark of 2.44. And he pitched 20 complete games.

McKinley Kirk Wins $18,596 Filly Event

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Great Pleasure, owned by McKinley Kirk of Washington Court House, Ohio, Thursday won the $18,596 Hanover Shoe Filly Stake pace in straight heats. The 2-year-old won the first heat in 2:03 and came back with a 2:01 4-5 in the second mile, paying $26.80, $8.20 and $4.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Dan Strain Is Stage Manager For Comedy, 'Sabrina Fair'

Dan Strain, 25, a newcomer to Washington C. H., will be the stage manager for "Sabrina Fair," a four-act comedy to be staged by the Community Players in the high school auditorium here Oct. 13 and 14.

A graduate of Wilmington College, he will serve as the co-ordinator for all phases of staging and lighting and will organize the work of the committees and stage crews, Hal Summers, president of the Community Players said.

The co-producers, Mr. and Mrs. William Stoughton, noted that Strain has had experience in both staging and lighting under a professional, Hugh Highland, at Wilmington College.

Strain, a native of Wilmington, Del., is now employed by Agricola here. He lives at 722 Fairway Dr. Following his graduation from college, he served two years in the Army and is now a member of Company M, Ohio National Guard.

Impressions Of Russia Given Shriners

A first hand report on his impressions of the Russian people, their way of life and Communist country was given to 35 members of the Washington C. H. Shrine Club at its meeting Thursday evening in the Hotel Washington banquet room by Sgt. R. E. Huggler of the U. S. Air Force.

Sgt. Huggler, now stationed at Wright-Patterson Base, returned only recently from two years in Moscow, where he was attached to the U. S. Embassy. He was introduced by Robert Terhune, program chairman.

Sgt. Huggler said indications are that conditions in Russia are getting better. The people seemed to have more money and seemed happier during the latter part of his stay than they were when he first went there.

As a humorous sidelight, he said, American troops were forbidden by the Russians to wear military uniforms in public, except on special occasions.

Sgt. Huggler showed some pictures of scenes in Russia and the people and explained that Communist regulations restricted the camera use.

Robert Frizzell of Greenfield, president of the club, presided at the business session at which C. R. Philhower, the secretary, reported that the club now has 157 members.

Guests at the meeting were Sidney Terhune with his father and George Hixon and Paul Narcross, both of Greenfield.

The directors and committee chairman are to meet in the Hotel Washington coffee shop Oct. 15. The next regular meeting of the club will be held Oct. 22 in Greenfield.

Mrs. William Lawyer, director of "Sabrina Fair," second production of the group, will work closely with the stage manager to synchronize the action with the stage set.

Summers said Mrs. Lawyer reported that members of the cast are "now polishing up their parts very well and working hard during these final weeks of rehearsal."

Members of the Community Players have tickets now. They also are available at Risch's Drug Store, Patton's Book Store and Bray's News and Sports Center.

City Provides Woman With $25 'Hotel' Room

A 43-year-old Springfield woman walked into the police station Thursday night and asked for a night's lodging. She got her wish.

Officers charged Mrs. Irma Underwood with being drunk. The night's lodging cost Mrs. Underwood $25 when she failed to appear in Municipal Court Friday to face the intoxication charge and thus forfeited $25 bond posted earlier in the morning.
